

Your Challenge

Amid constantly changing safety and security regulations, airlines and airports must continue to refine their commitment to passenger safety and satisfaction as well as work diligently to secure perimeters, airplanes and cargo facilities.

Our Solution

Aviation Safeguards, a division of Command Security Corporation, is one of the nation's leading providers of contract security, passenger and related services to the aviation industry. With more than a quarter century of expertise, Aviation Safeguards serves many major international airports as well as more than 100 leading domestic and international airlines.

Next Step

Every airport and airline faces unique security, operations and passenger service challenges. Before initiating any project, we devote extensive time and resources toward understanding each client's specific needs as well as evaluating existing processes. The result: customized solutions that are effective and adaptive.

Why Aviation Safeguards?

Specialized Training: Aviation Safeguards' security officers and customer service personnel meet state and federal requirements for training, as well as our rigorous standards in aviation-specific areas including: terrorism response, baggage and passenger screening, use of metal detectors, passenger service, CPR, first-aid, fire safety, traffic and crowd control, document verification, wheelchair escort and dispatch services, skycap, baggage handling and concierge services.

Technology: Aviation Safeguards utilizes the latest procedures, technologies and equipment. Our software systems ensure the most effective, accurate and efficient security and customer services available. (And our proprietary SmartWheel™ technology monitors, tracks and enhances wheelchair escort services.)

Accountability and Responsiveness: Aviation Safeguards' management and supervisory team are available 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. And our staff works closely with terminal support service staff, on-site supervisors and airport authorities.
